

A professional update day for academics and pharmacy trainers

Tuesday 9th September 2014, 9.30am to 4.30pm
Room MB 644, Main Building, Aston Pharmacy School,
Birmingham

Description:

Changes in the professional and legal requirements affecting pharmacy practice are constant and continuous. The separation of the RPSGB into the GPhC and the RPS radically changed the way academics covered the former “law and ethics” curriculum and the prospect of a five-year integrated course offers opportunities for lecturers and trainers to come together to enrich the student experience and understanding of professionalism. This day focuses on three key topics that have had, or will have, significant impact on the teaching and training of future pharmacists. For new teachers or trainers (or those who would just like to refresh their knowledge) we finish the day with short briefings on key concepts in healthcare law and ethics that may enhance your teaching.

Who should attend?

MPharm lecturers who cover aspects of professionalism, law or ethics in their teaching
Providers of pre-registration pharmacy training
Providers of post-graduate pharmacy education
Teachers and trainers of pharmacy technicians

Chair:

Professor Chris Langley, Associate Dean and Professor of Pharmacy Law and Practice, Aston University

Timings from 9.30am to 4.30pm

Booking and travel

Register for event on the PLEA website: <http://www.plea.org.uk>;

Fees: for PLEA members: £40 For non-members: £75

Routes to Aston and a campus map can be found at

<http://www.aston.ac.uk/about/directions/>

Programme overleaf

Programme

Timings	Speaker/session leader	Brief
9.30 to 10.00		Tea/coffee/registration
10.00 to 10.15	Professor Helen Higson OBE	Introduction to the day and to Professor Chris Langley, chair for the day
10.00 to 11.15	Dr Matthew Boyd	The student code of practice and FTP processes – how are they working for you?
11.15 to 11.30		Break
11.30 to 12.30	Jeannette Howe	The rebalancing medicines legislation and professional regulation programme Implications for teaching
12.30 to 13.20		Lunch
13.20 to 13.30	Joy Wingfield	The PLEA student essay award for 2014/15
13.30 to 14.45	Cicely Roche	Can we teach professional judgement and reasoning? Experiences from research and practice
14.45 to 15.00		Break
15.00 to 16.30	Joy Wingfield	Briefings on key legal and ethical concepts: Sources of law, statute and civil law negligence European law and Human Rights Consent and confidentiality

Professor Helen Higson OBE, Deputy Vice-Chancellor University of Aston
 Chris Langley, Professor of Pharmacy Law and Practice, University of Aston
 Dr Matthew Boyd, Lecturer, Nottingham School of Pharmacy
 Jeannette Howe, Head of Pharmacy, Department of Health, England
 Cicely Roche, Associate Professor, Trinity College, Dublin
 Professor Joy Wingfield, Honorary Professor of Pharmacy Law and Ethics, University of Nottingham